AV/Acoustic Consultant (Trainee) – Singapore

Applicants for this role should have some relevant experience that demonstrates an aptitude towards audio and/or video - these include: music performance and/or recording, radio/TV production, theatre production and/or performance, sound/video systems installation and/or design engineering. Alternatively, any of these skills combined with an appropriate degree or technical qualification would be beneficial. Degree level education essential for acoustic role.

You will be taught how to undertake consultancy work by assisting an existing consultant, working through the different stages of the work with a view to moving to a level 1 consultant. If not already CTS qualified, we will place you through this course as a trainee.

For all positions, applicants must have excellent communication skills and be PC literate. A good working knowledge of AutoCAD is required, as is competency with the standard MS Office suite of products.

If you are seeking recognition for what you do, are not afraid of hard but rewarding work, have pride in your work, a keen eye for detail and relish the opportunity to do something properly, we want to hear from you.

Salary and benefits for all positions are according to experience. Opportunities exist for ongoing training, short or long term assignments at Hewshott's international offices. All openings are immediate and are likely to involve some travel throughout the region.

Please send an initial introductory email to jobs@hewshott.com, attaching your CV.
